CONTEMPT OF COURT.

The case against Mr. Daniel Lyons, as publisher of the Etele, was heard on Saturday morning before Judge McCully. The complaint set forth that the paper contained "certain malicious and libelous writings, reflecting upon a decision rendered by the Chief Justice of this Honorable Court, in a matter then pending in the Supreme Court tending to bring this Honorable Court and the administration of justice into ridicule, contempt, discredit and odium."

Mr. Lyons was held free from all responsibility in the matter by the appearance of Mr. John Sheldon who acknowledged that he was responsible for the appearance of the article in question. The Court reserved its decision.

THE HAWAIIAN COIN.

The S. F. Call gives the following, which is more amusing than

"The Islands by, the way, have been shaken from crater to coral reefs, by the row raised about the new Hawaiian coins sent from our midst here a few week ago. It appears that Claus Spreckels undertook to supply the kingdom with a coinage of its own, taking in payment therefor Hawaiian six per cent bonds at par. Mr. Spreckels took a leaf from the financial history of the United States, and having studied it carefully, proceeded to have made for the impatient Kanaka some bright "silver dollars" worth several cents less than face value. At least this is what the powerful missionary element of the Islands claim, and before the eager natives could handle the coin stamped with the medallion of the successor of all the Kamehamehas, an injunction was placed on their issuance by the government. A prominent mover in this action was the Honolulu banker Mr. Bishop, high in the councils of the missionary element. Mr. Bishop was surprised the day after the injunction by finding his checks, offered in payment of customs duties, returned, and coin demanded according to the letter of the law. As there is probably on the Islands, not enough coin to pay the duties he is responsible for until the coin he has enjoined has been issued, Mr. Bishop, no doubt, can give a pretty good estimate of the state of mind in which was the hungry bear floating out to sea on the body of a walrus-
